

2023 Fall Semester Service-Learning Opportunities

Service-learning has always been one of the developmental pillars of the Urban University (UU) youth leadership program. However, COVID abruptly halted our efforts and continued to delay being able to incorporate it back into our schedule. We are excited to announce the following service-learning opportunities for students, families, and mentors.

We believe that serving others is a part of servant leadership, and it is important to establish this habit early to give of ourselves without expecting anything in return. UU students are expected to participate in at least one service project each semester, however we realize this also provides opportunity to build commUUnity, and invite you to participate in as many as you are able and would enjoy.

Please RSVP by text or email for the following service-learning opportunities. Spots for some projects are limited in number and some are defined with qualifications. Your immediate response is encouraged.
